

45 Business School MBA Recommendation Letters That Made a Difference

Getting into business school is tough. The competition is fierce, and the admissions process is rigorous. One of the most important parts of your application is your recommendation letters. These letters can give the admissions committee a well-rounded view of your character, your work ethic, and your potential.

45 Business School (MBA) Recommendation Letters That Made a Difference by Dr. Nancy L. Nolan

★★★★☆ 4.3 out of 5

Language : English
File size : 252 KB
Text-to-Speech : Enabled
Screen Reader : Supported
Enhanced typesetting : Enabled
Print length : 102 pages
Lending : Enabled

If you're not sure how to write a great recommendation letter, don't worry. We've got you covered. Here are 45 examples of great MBA recommendation letters that will help you stand out from the crowd.

1. The "I've Known This Person for Years" Letter

This letter is from a close friend or family member who has known you for a long time. They can speak to your character, your work ethic, and your potential. Here's an example:

“I have known [Applicant Name] for over 10 years, and I can attest to their hard work, dedication, and intelligence. They are a natural leader and have always been willing to go the extra mile. I am confident that they would be a valuable addition to your MBA program.”

2. The "I've Worked with This Person for Years" Letter

This letter is from a supervisor or colleague who has worked with you for a long time. They can speak to your work ethic, your skills, and your ability to work in a team. Here's an example:

“I have had the pleasure of working with [Applicant Name] for the past five years. They are one of the most talented and hardworking employees I have ever met. They are always willing to take on new challenges and are always looking for ways to improve their skills. I am confident that they would be a successful student in your MBA program.”

3. The "I've Taught This Person for Years" Letter

This letter is from a professor who has taught you for a long time. They can speak to your academic ability, your critical thinking skills, and your ability to communicate effectively. Here's an example:

“I have had the privilege of teaching [Applicant Name] for the past three years. They are one of the most intelligent and engaged students I have ever taught. They are always prepared for class and are always willing to participate in discussions. I am confident that they would be a successful student in your MBA program.”

4. The "I've Coached This Person for Years" Letter

This letter is from a coach who has worked with you for a long time. They can speak to your leadership skills, your teamwork skills, and your ability to overcome challenges. Here's an example:

“I have coached [Applicant Name] for the past four years. They are one of the most driven and determined athletes I have ever met. They are always willing to put in the extra work and are always looking for ways to improve. I am confident that they would be a successful student in your MBA program.”

5. The "I've Mentored This Person for Years" Letter

This letter is from a mentor who has worked with you for a long time. They can speak to your career goals, your leadership skills, and your potential. Here's an example:

“I have mentored [Applicant Name] for the past two years. They are one of the most ambitious and driven individuals I have ever met. They have a clear vision for their future and are always looking for ways to improve their skills. I am confident that they would be a successful student in your MBA program."”

These are just a few examples of great MBA recommendation letters. When you're writing your own letters, be sure to focus on your strengths and how you would be a valuable addition to the MBA program. With a little effort, you can write a letter that will help you stand out from the crowd and get into the business school of your dreams.

45 Business School (MBA) Recommendation Letters

That Made a Difference by Dr. Nancy L. Nolan

★★★★☆ 4.3 out of 5

Language : English
File size : 252 KB
Text-to-Speech : Enabled
Screen Reader : Supported
Enhanced typesetting : Enabled
Print length : 102 pages
Lending : Enabled

Balancing Your Hormones Naturally: Regaining Fertility and Living a Better Life

Hormones play a vital role in our overall health and well-being. They regulate everything from our metabolism and digestion to our sleep patterns and fertility. When...

Random Forest Encounters: Random Encounter Tables for Fantasy Tabletop RPGs

Enrich Your Campaign with Endless Possibilities Embark on extraordinary adventures...